The officer's dilemma

Through the tour, we follow an officer in the post-war period, who walks through the forest and swamp while trying to cope with the loss of his job and the chaos that has befallen the country.

Starting from his favorite beach¹, we take a stone path next to the forest, to a fisherman's restaurant² with a proven menu. We continue through the forest and reach the base of a new bridge³. We explore the shore of a swamp⁴ and climb the embankment. We follow the officer to a viewpoint⁵ and from there we visit the Petrovaradin settlements^{6 7}. Finally, we conclude the story at the Duga bridge⁸.

The officer's dilemma

Marko Vasić - In the whirlwind of the breakup of Yugoslavia, officer Marko loses his job. As the country descends into chaos, Marko's focus is on his boys and the uncertain future that awaits them.

What will happen to the country? What will happen to them? What kind of work will he find? His gaze is heavy as he gathers the abilities he has. His lip trembles as he examines a situation that seems hopeless.

To hide his pain from his sons, he goes for a walk towards his favorite fishing spot.
